

Bus drivers that are employed by the school system may sometimes be full-time personnel who take time from other regularly assigned duties. When this occurs, the bus driver will be paid for actual time spent in each of the various job assignments, with overtime calculated and paid in accordance with District policy and relevant Federal and State law.

Bus drivers for school bus contractors are not employees of the school district, but are employed by the contractor subject to approval of the superintendent.